Missionaries of the Week
Dan and Laura Lamm (Thailand)

An update from the Lamms:

Things have been somewhat abnormal here these past couple months. I think our family has been dealing with sickness since August at this point. My 2 year old son recently developed pneumonia but now seems to be on the mend. Besides that Chiang Mai has been experiencing severe flooding this week, but by God's grace it seems to be subsiding and none of our homes were flooded. Our Thai continues to advance and we are developing new/deeper relationships which is exciting.

One other prayer request would be concerning people group research. We are well into the process of trying to determine what people group we will ultimately relocate to in Thailand. Please pray that this process would be filled with wisdom and that God would guide us to the right people group.
